DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to data structure, which is non-statutory subject matter.

Data structures are not statutory because they are neither physical “things” nor statutory processes. Such claimed data structures do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the data structure’s functionality to be realized. Similarly, computer program claimed as computer listing (i.e., software which defines a set of instructions) or the descriptions of expression of the program) are not physical “things” nor are statutory processes as they are not “acts” being performed. Such claimed computer programs do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the computer program and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the computer program’s functionality to be realized. The “a section overhead with a Regeneration Section OverHead (RSOH) and a Multiplex Section OverHead (MSOH)” recited in the claims is nothing more than data structure or computer software which defines a set of instructions. No physical “things” such as an apparatus or computer readable medium is recited. The claims do not disclose how the “a section overhead with a Regeneration Section OverHead (RSOH) and a Multiplex Section OverHead (MSOH)” is interact with any physical “things” (or any apparatus or equipment) to provide a specified functionality. The “a section overhead with a Regeneration Section OverHead (RSOH) and a Multiplex Section

Art Unit: 2665

OverHead (MSOH)" recited in the claims is merely a data structure or software program. It is not structurally and functionally interrelated to any medium. Thus, the claims viewed as whole merely define a data structure or a set of instruction per se which is not statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 16 line 1, it is unclear as to what is meant by "The use of".

In claim 17 line 2, it is unclear as to what is meant by "producing said transmission frame so as to comprise a section overhead with a Regeneration Section OverHead (RSOH) and a Multiplex Section OverHead (MSOH)." The scope of the claim is, therefore, unascertainable.

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
